

PRESENTATION OF THE WEST AFRICAN DEVELOPMENT BANK

1. CREATION AND PURPOSE

The West African Development Bank (BOAD) is the common development finance institution of the member countries of the West African Monetary Union (WAMU), later transformed into a West African Economic and Monetary Union (WAEMU) by a Treaty signed on 10 January 1994. It was established by an agreement signed on 14 November 1973 by six Member Countries (Benin, Burkina Faso, Cote d'Ivoire, Niger, Senegal and Togo), which were joined by Mali on 1st June 1984 and Guinea Bissau on 2 May 1997. BOAD became operational in 1976.

By Treaty of the West African Economic and Monetary Union (WAEMU) entered into force on 1st August 1994, BOAD is a common specialized institution of the Union. It contributes "in full independence to the attainment of the objectives of the WAEMU without prejudice to the objectives assigned to it under the WAMU Treaty".

BOAD is an international public institution whose purpose, as provided under Article 2 of its Articles of Association, is to promote the balanced development of its member countries and foster economic integration within West Africa by financing priority development projects. in the following sectors: agriculture and rural development, industry, water, sanitation and urban development, transport infrastructure and equipment, information and communication, finance and insurance, hotels and tourism, environment, social and other services.
